

Nestled along the banks of Keyser Run in the shadow of the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Shenandoah National Park you'll find Riverbend. The gathering of two homes, a historic old church, and a couple of sheds sharing two parcels totaling 2.3 +/- acres with long, lovely frontage along the river. Whether you're listening to the water from the porch, watching the morning mist rise off the mountains, or simply breathing in air that feels like it's been cleaned by the forest, this land has a way of slowing time down. For those who love to get outside, the location is nothing short of exceptional. The Little Devil Stairs trailhead — a beloved hike in Shenandoah National Park — is just 1.4 miles away. From there, start the loop (go counter-clockwise!), or plan a hike that explores more of the Park.
